

'LISTEN TO THE SOUNDS OF NATURE ' eTwinning Project

About the Project

If environmental pollution continues at this pace, there will be no environment where future generations can continue their lives. They will realize that there are extinct and endangered creatures in the world.

They will realize this richness by paying attention to the diversity of living things in their environment. It is aimed to raise individuals who know the importance of living diversity and who can protect biodiversity.

Also students will learn to use web2 tools
